Vietnam veteran Jerry Ackerman served in the U.S. Army from 1965 to 1968.

In August of 1965, 19-yearold Ackerman enlisted in the Army. Before leaving for eight weeks of basic training in Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri, on Nov. 28, he was united in marriage to Betty Wassenaar on Sept. 10.

Following basic training he was stationed in Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey, where Betty joined him. He was trained there in electronics.

On their first night in New Jersey they had a car accident in which they were hit by a reckless driver who had no insurance.

The Ackermans were not injured, but Army regulations prohibited them from taking a damaged car onto the base, so they rented an apartment two blocks off the military base.

Ackerman received $$ 72$ a

Army veteran Jerry Ackerman reflects on time served in Vietnam

"I remember the first night. We were told if we heard sirens, which meant an attack, to head for the big bunkers made out of sandbags. The siren sounded, mortars started coming into the compound, and the guy in the bunker next to me whom I had met on the plane was hit and died that first night."

month pay and their apartment was $$ 80$ a month. His wife, Betty, found a job working at a day care on the army base to help with expenses.

Ackerman left for PhuLam Army Base in Saigon, Vietnam, in November 1966. He left from Oakland, California, and the flight was 21 hours.

Stopping once at Koyote, Japan, for fuel and then on to Saigon, he was then transferred to a facility called Beinhoa where he received his assignment to the 268th signal corps, which was working in communications.

Former Hills resident Ken Deer visits

By Glenda McGaffee Ken Deer, former Hills resident, visited Hills Friday, Oct. 30. His parents were Kenneth and Della Deer who owned the Hills Telephone Company in the 1950s.

The Deer family lived in a small house on Third Street where the company was located. The small building was built on land originally owned by Frederich Finke, who received a homestead patent from the government in 1881.

The first man to start the business in Hills in 1890 was William Thompson. The business was located in the back of his hardware store. In 1927 Louis Gordon bought the business and moved it to the back of the First National Bank.

Deer said, "My dad owned the phone company from 1952 o 1954. He also installed the firs television in Hills."

Deer's father passed away, but his mother, Della, lives in Aitkin. Deer, who lives in Murfreesboro Tennessee, stopped in Hills on his way to visit his mom.
"I remember buying candy at Elmer Ruud's store for a penny. The store was across the street from our home where the Fire Station is now. I alsoremember going to the Hills Creamery, which waslocated on the corner of Water Avenue and 3rd Street. We would purchase butter and milk," he said.

Mydadwouldinviteneigh bors over on Friday night to watch the fights onTV.My family moved to Bancroft, Nebraska and purchased a phone company there."

Meet your neighbor: Jan Solberg

By Glenda McGaffee Jan Solberg and her husband, Ron, live on 10 acres located on the west edge of Hills on 31st Street in their earth-sheltered home.

An earth-sheltered home is the architectural practice of using earth against building walls for external thermal mass to reduce heat loss and to easily maintain a steady indoor temperature.

The Solberg home is heated with a wood-burning stove and passive solar heat, which uses the sun's energy to heat the home.

The Solbergs made the blue print for their home. The bricklaying for their home was done by Stan and Don Ardema from Doon, Iowa.

The Solbergs have an apple orchard on their acreage. The apples are available for people of the community for a freewill donation. They do not spray insecticides on their apples

The Solbergs trim their apple trees and give the branches to their rabbits. The rabbits eat the bark and leaves off the branches, which are then used for kindling to heat the Solberg home.

Jan makes apple juice, applesauce and apple crisp with her apples

She also raises ducks and bunnies. The ducks roam freely on the Solberg acreage.

The ducks keep the apple orchard clean and eat bugs," Jan said.

At the present time she has nine young ducklings and raises them until they are four to five pounds. The ducks are then butchered and the meat is processed into "duck dogs" and duck summer sausage.

At the present time Solberg has four does and two buck rabbits. They will also be eventually butchered.

The Solbergs have a number of rental properties in the town of Hills.

Jan said, "We offer nice affordable housing for families who want their children to attend Hills-Beaver Creek School.

In her spare time Jan enjoys reading and quilting with ladies at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

She is also secretary of the church council and substitutes occasionally at the Ellsworth Public School in Ellsworth Ron is a retired H-BC teacher.

getting into the helicopter and going out to rebuild damaged towers in the fields.
"All of us had to do guard duty and our weapons were M -60 machine guns. The soldiers in all of the guard towers would hear rifle fire, see the flash from a tree across the swamp, something move in the trees and fire. We never knew if we personally hit the sniper, which was probably good," Ackerman said.
"We would go into town and do our laundry. The form of transportation was tiny taxi cabs and bicycles. There were no right or left lanes. The cost for the transportation was 50 cents or a pack of cigarettes. It was a very different way of life."

He recalled the food he ate during that time.
"Vietnamese ladies did all our cooking. I am so sick of powdered milk and instant mashed potatoes. To this day I will not eat instant mashed potatoes. When I eat at a restaurant, I ask if they are instant potatoes. If they are, I will not order them," Ackerman said.
"The weather was hot and humid but in the rainy season we walked in water constantly. While there I saw a Bob Hope Show."

After ending his tour of duty he returned home and met his 6-month-old daughter, Laurie, for the first time. His family joined him and he went to Ft. Huachea, Arizona, and then to Ft. Lewis, Washington, where he was discharged on Nov. 28, 1968.

Upon returning home, he and his family moved to Valley Springs, South Dakota. The communications training he'd received in the army helped him get a job with Warren Supply Co. in Sioux Falls.

Then one day he met Max Pasley, the owner of Max Pasley Distributing, who asked Ackerman to work for him, which he did for 20 years.

When Max Pasley sold the business in 1987, Ackerman went to work for Maytag Corporation as a Field Service Representative. Whirlpool purchased Maytag in June of 2006, and he stayed with them for two more years and then retired.

He and Betty moved to Florida in 1998 and now live in Hills. He continues to work part time in his home for Field's Appliance Service in Florida via computer.

Ackerman said, "My tour in Vietnam was very interesting, and I saw things I never imagined. The kids had nothing."

Did you know November is Healthy Skin Month? The most important tip professionals give is to be proactive and protect yourself from the sun. Wear protective clothing, use at least a SPF-15 sunscreen and reapply every 2 hours.

Residents started the first week of November experiencing many typical things associated with November.

Monday they gathered to work on Thanksgiving turkey door decorations.

On Wednesday Marlin Olson, the Karoke Krooner, joined us with a message of thankfulness and sang encouraging gospel songs. The sounds filled the hallways and had several remembering all they are thankful for this year.

On Wednesday afternoon residents gathered for Resident Council. Theyheard department head reports, shared questions, concerns and compliments, and more importantly, voted Jim Leenderts to be the Resident Council president. Some of Jim's duties include reviewing the Resident Council minutes and leading the Pledge of Allegiance. Other residents on the ballotwere Henrietta Bajema and Winnie VanderVliet.

Residents joined for Whoga and Thanksgiving Trivia on Thursday morning. The theme of Thanksgiving continued that afternoon. When residents came into the dining room for bingo, the tables were covered in bright yellowbingocards. Thursdaysthis month will feature FEAST bingo As if the letters F-E-A-S-T were notenough, residents asked what word they would have to yell out when they had a bingo. What do you think? Well, of course, they had to yell, "Gobble! Gobble! Gobble!" Again, there was plenty oflaughter filling the room that afternoon. Thursdaycoffeefeatured the Dutch treat, "Olliebollen," courtesy of Dorothy Bos. Thank you, Dorothy.

Friday morning a group of residents joined together for ball exercises as well as visit the beauty shop. That afternoon they gathered for horse races, a facility favorite. (Especially when Tuff Country Store coupons are the prize!). Saturday mornings are often low-key but enjoyable activities. This Saturday residents joined around the table for a cup of coffee and reminiscing about Thanksgiving traditions. Later the men shared memories of canning potatoes and carrots.
Many donations continue to come in for the Tuff Country Store, and we are overwhelmed with thankfulness and appreciation. It is because ofYOU that this is able to happen. Current store needs: small cans of diet pop,face powder $\backslash$ make-up, hard candies.

Looking ahead this week:

Hills-Beaver Creek students volunteered at a Kids Against Hunger Packing event in Luverne Nov. 5 that resulted in 135,000 mealsforhungry families in Haiti. That's 30,000 more than last year's local event and the largest pack at one time the Sioux Falls distribution center has done to date.
$\mathrm{H}-\mathrm{BC}$ joined students from Luverne, Edgerton Christian Elementary and Southwest Christian.

Local businesses and other organizations supplied adult volunteers to work in shifts to packagefour differentingredientsinto vacuum-sealed plastic bags.

The bags' contents of white rice, soy protein, vitamins flavoring and a dried vegetable blend when added to sixcups of water yields six servings.

Cost of each of the pack aged meals is $$ 1.50$, and the students and organizations worked to raise money for the cause.

Close the gate By Yancy Kraayenhof

Horseshoe Luck
A farmer travelling with a heavy load,

Picked up a stray horseshoe on the road,
He nailed it securely above his old barn door,

That good luck might down upon him pour.

Ihat every good blessing known in this life,

Might crown his homestead and his wife

That never any form of trouble or harm

Descend upon his humble farm.

By James Thomas Fields
Do you know how hard it is to find a cast-off horseshoe in this day and age? I look everywhere I go. We read a book in day care about a lucky horseshoe. I went to our barn and looked everywhere. None. Nowhere. But I am beginning to think we need one. We seem to be having a bit of bad luck this year.

The horseshoe superstition is one of good fortune. It is believed to date back to the story of a blacksmith named Dunstan and a man who he believed to be the devil.

It is said a man came to Dunstan and requested he re-shoe his horse. Dunstan recognized this man as the devil and nailed a horseshoe to the man's foot instead of his horse's. Seeing that the devil was in great pain, Dunstan took advantage of his agony and told him he would not remove the shoe until he promised never to enter into a place that had a horseshoe hung over the door. And, hence, the lucky horseshoe came into being.

A horseshoe is also typically nailed on with seven nails and the number seven has always been considered lucky.

How the horseshoe is hung and displayed varies. Some regions of the world believe that hanging the horseshoe in the upward position like a "U" holds in all the good luck and the power it brings. For them, hanging it upside down means its powers will fall away and dissipate.

However, there are others who believe hanging it in a downward position allows all the good luck, protective powers and great fortune to shower down upon you and surround your home.

Another belief connected to the horseshoe is that because of its crescent shape, it has the ability to ward off the evil eye. In ancient Europe the crescent shape represented the various moon goddesses which were signs of protection, good luck, fertility and could protect against a curse of the evil eye.

In many places the evil eye is taken very seriously. It is actually just a human look stemming from jealousy or anger believed to cause harm to someone or even something. A person on the receiving end of the evil eye can experience anything from a small misfortune to disease, injury or even death. The most common ailments caused by the evil eye are oss of appetite, unending hiccups, excessive yawning, fever and vomiting.

The evil eye can cause a house's roof to suddenly develop a leak, a car to stop unning and a tree to wither and die. Just about anything that goes wrong (for any reason or for no reason at all) may be blamed on the power of the evil eye.

Hmmm. Do you think a horseshoe has to be randomly found in order for it to work? I've been looking for good luck everywhere. It seems cast off horseshoes are a bit hard to come by around here.

If I were to pick up a couple of horseshoes at a flea market, they probably wouldn't work, but if someone else were to like obtain some horseshoes and then accidentally lose them in our driveway and I were to luckily find them, they would be MAGIC!

When I do find my horseshoes, I've decided I'm not going to take any chances. I'm going to hang one going up and one going down. I prefer to have all my bases covered. I could actually use a good dose of that evil eye which makes one lose their appetite. I handle stress fairly well except for that chocolate comfort food thing.

I'll close the gate now; horseshoe-less and tensed.

But if our God is for us, what could stand against?

$1^{\text {st }}$ Sunday of each month: Fellowship dinner after Sunday School

By Glenda McGaffee
Nov. 11, 1918, will long be remembered by many people The day started out like any other day but ended up as a very exciting and memorable day. Just imagine the silence that fell on France at eleven o'clock in the morning when the first Armistice was signed. For four long years, huge guns had been booming, bullets whistling and whining, rocket flares going up with a hiss, wounded and dying men moaning and crying for help.

When the Armistice was signed in France, church bells began ringing, the fire whistle screamed. The reason was the German commander-in-chief had accepted the American terms of surrender

The fact that an armistice had been signed and the guns silenced was enough to set off wild celebrations on both sides of the Atlantic.

To the veterans of World War I and their wives and their contemporaries, Armistice Day or Veterans Day will always remain the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month o 1918, the greatest moment of their lives.

Veterans Day honors veterans from all the wars America has fought since World War I. Originally called Armistice Day the celebration was started to honor the soldiers when World War I ended, but the observance was not officially declared a holiday until 1938. It was renamed Veterans Day in 1954, after the U. S had been in volved in two more wars. World volved in two more wars, World ar II and the Korean War.
Veterans Day celebrates men and women who are still alive and served in the armed forces any time during peace or war.

Did you know Irving Berlin's song "God Bless America" wasn't introduced to the public until 1938, when he changed the lyrics and Kate Smith sang it on the radio in observance o Veteran's Day?

Every day we should thank every veteran for their service.

This week I have two recipes that use pumpkin.

Baked Pumpkin

French Toast
1 tablespoon butter, softened

1 loaf bread, cut into 3/4-inch-thick slices

7 eggs
$11 / 4$ cups whole milk
2/3 cup canned pumpkin
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie

spice
1/8 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons sugar 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon

> Maple syrup

Generously grease $13 \times 9$ inch baking dish with butter. Arrange bread slices in dish, fitting slices in tightly.

Combine eggs, milk, pumpkin, vanilla, pumpkin pie spice and salt in medium bowl; beat until well blended. Pour over bread in baking dish; turn slices to coat completely with egg mix ture. Cover and refrigerate eight hours or overnight.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine sugar and cinnamon in small bowl; mix well. Turn bread slice again; sprinkle generously with cinnamonsugar. Bake about 30 minutes or until bread is puffy and golden brown. Serve immediately with maple syrup. Makes six servings.

Vanilla Pumpkin Pie 1 package (4-serving size) vanilla instant pudding and pie filling mix
$11 / 2$ cups milk
1 cup canned pumpkin
$1 / 4$ teaspoon ground cinnamon
$1 / 4$ teaspoon ground nut meg

1 baked 9-inch pie crust Whisk pudding mix and milk in medium bowl until well blended. Add pumpkin, cinnamon and nutmeg; whisk until well blended.

Pour filling into crust. Re frigerate three hours or until firm.

This pie can be prepared a day ahead and refrigerated over night. Garnish with additional cinnamon, nutmeg or whipped cream just before serving.
