E. coli returns to Blue Mounds State Park

By Mavis Fodness

$1.25

Waterlines at Blue Mounds State Park were being flushed with bleach Tuesday morning as park officials deal with another fecal coliform contamination within its water system.

Park director Chris Ingebretsen said he learned late Thursday afternoon, May 21, that one water tap tested positive for E. coli, the first positive test since the park installed a new, deeper well in November 2014.

Officials have been testing the water system quarterly.

"Routine testing didn't show anything," Ingebretsen said until the Thursday test.

Follow-up tests after Thursday's discovery by Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) found the bacteria present in the entire water system, Ingebretsen said.

The bacteria's presence halted all water usage from the park's system over the Memorial Day holiday weekend, one of the park's busiest camping times.

The park opened to campers in early May

With Thursday's discovery, park staff notified incoming campers of the e coli contamination through phone calls and text messages. When campers arrived, they were offered gallons of drinking water for use during their park stay.

"It really didn't hurt our business," Ingebretsen said.

For the weekend, the 70 spots in the main campground along with the 14 walk-in and two tepee locations remained occupied.

According to the MDH website, E. coli bacteria lives in the intestines of healthy people and animals. Most E. coli varieties are harmless but a few strains can cause abdominal cramps, bloody diarrhea and vomiting.

Tuesday's flushing of the park's water lines will try to pinpoint the E. coli source.

Candlelight vigil honors sacrifices of soldiers

By Lori Sorenson

Despite a soft rain, the annual Memorial Day Eve Candlelight Vigil was observed, fittingly, at the Rock County Memorial Sunday night.

"We debated about the weather, but it just seemed the right place to have a memorial service — right here at the Veterans Memorial," said Rock County Veterans Services Officer Dave Haugom, who emceed the ceremony. Chairs, umbrellas and electronic candles were provided to those who participated in the ceremony at the Veterans Memorial on the courthouse lawn.

E. coli was previously discovered in the park's water lines on May 12, 2014.

Officials thought the previous well was the culprit due to a cracked casing that allowed possible animal feces and the less likely human feces to leak into the water lines.

The old well has since been sealed and the new well drilled at twice the previous depth, away from a possible contaminated underground water vein.

The park will remain open, as officials work to eliminate the bacteria from its water lines.

Workers with Henning Construction, Adrian, move a cement culvert into place Thursday, May 21, as the Highway 75 project ends its second full week of construction. The city of Luverne is partnering with the Minnesota Department of Transportation on the $2.7 million project. Lais expects the roadway will be reopened to traffic in about three weeks.

Public hearing June 16 for ag business ordinance

By Mavis Fodness

A new ordinance involving agricultural businesses is under consideration by the Rock County Commissioners in an upcoming public hearing.

Commissioners set Tuesday, June 16, for the hearing and will decide based on public input whether or not to accept the planning and zoning committee's recommendations.

Currently, the county does not have a permit or a conditional use ordinance in place for small businesses operating within the A-2 general agricultural zone district.

Rock County Land Management Director Eric Hartman told commissioners at their May 5 meeting application inquires have been made for a state permit to sell or resell products from a rural Rock County business location.

The state, however, had one additional requirement only obtained from the county.

The former home of Melvin and Annie Reese near Luverne City Park came down last week as part of a Luverne Economic Authority commercial demolition grant program to improve local properties. The structures had been abandoned for some time, and city authorities feared they may become a hazard for young park visitors who might be drawn to explore them.

Buildings razed on property east of Luverne City Park

Visitors to Luverne City Park will notice a change of scenery on the park's eastern horizon following recent demolition and cleanup of a nearby property.

In March the Luverne Economic Development Authority approved a commercial demolition grant request from the Sterrett family.

The LEDA agreed to give $5,000 toward the demolition of a house and outbuildings on the acreage just east of Luverne City Park along River Road.

It once belonged to Rita Sterrett's parents, Melvin and Annie Rees, and now the Sterrett family members have been working to clean up the property with help from city public works crews.

Earlier this spring, city crews helped clear away stored equipment and cut down overgrown trees and weedy shrubs.

On Tuesday, May 19, demolition crews began work of tearing down the buildings, and by the end of the next day, the property was reduced

"There is a desire and the intention on the part of the planning (and) zoning board to attempt to regulate and decline businesses and to give some type of control," Klosterbuer said.

He clarified for commissioners that any business geared toward farming is not considered a small business and has its own separate planning and zoning rules.

Additions to the current ordinance involve two small business definitions. They are:

Agricultural-oriented business: A business including, but not limited to commercial storage and blending of liquid to dry fertilizers; grain and feed sales; general repair and installation services for agricultural equipment; custom meat processing; agricultural supplies and nursery sales; ethanol and bio-diesel production. And,

As one attendee put it, "Our slight discomfort is nothing compared to the sacrifices of these soldiers."

In addition to remembering the sacrifices of Rock County's service men and women, Sunday's events included an unveiling of a bronze bust of Warren Herreid and Jeannine Rivet.

The couple has donated millions of dollars toward establishing the Veterans Memorial and renovating the former county jail building to the Rock County Veterans Memorial Building.

As an expression of gratitude, the Veterans Memorial Committee had a bust made of Herreid and Rivet and it's now mounted on 4-foot Sioux quartzite pedestal between the courthouse and the museum.

The plaque on the front of the artwork recognizes the couple for their contributions and thanks them for their generosity.

The plaque, in part, states, "For these generous and enduring gifts to the community, we express our deepest gratitude to Warren G. Herreid II and Jeannine M. Rivet and their KAHR Foundation."

The couple said the process was humbling, and when they were first approached about the idea they were against it. "We didn't do this for any recognition," Herreid said about their donations.

Rivet said she hopes that the artwork might serve as a reminder for others to share their gifts, if they're able. "We appreciate that we've been able to do this for the community," Rivet said.

"We hope this helps future generations to see the importance of giving back to the community when you can."

According to Rock County Administrator Kyle Oldre, who serves on the Veterans Memorial Committee, Herreid and Rivet had to be convinced to accept the plans for the bust. "We told them it's just a community trying to say thanks," Oldre said.

An art broker helped the group select nationally acclaimed Utah artist Ben Hammond, who has completed portrait busts for the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Vance Walgrave of Luverne Monuments provided the pedestal and helped with assembly.

The gift was paid for by the Veterans Memorial Committee through the Perpetual Care Fund.

here is just different. And I think being from a small community and living in the area really helps."

That is how Sgt. 1st Class Eric Oye explains his success over the years in recruiting young men and women from southwest Minnesota to join the Minnesota National Guard.

Oye, a 1997 graduate of Luverne High School, first enlisted in the Guard when he was a high school senior in 1996.

He began as a recruiter for the Guard in 2000 in the Crookston area and has been assigned to the Luverne and Jackson areas for about 13 years.

He and his wife, Charissa, live in Luverne with their children.

In his 16 years as a recruiter, Oye has helped more than 320 young people answer the question of what they are going to do after high school.

Oye first makes contact with many of his recruits while offering classes at area high schools.

At Luverne High School, Oye leads land navigation and other lessons in Mike Wenninger's Lifetime Fitness classes.

"Mike Wenninger is a great asset to the National Guard," Oye said.

Other involvement in area high schools includes offering the ASVAB test (Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery) and physical training tests to local students.

Oye gives each student a sheet of information about the National Guard and then lets the students take the next step.

'We don't just randomly call kids; I don't do it that way," Oye said. "We're not like telemarketers."

When young people

indicate a possible interest in enlisting with the Guard, a meeting with the parents is the first step.

"Even if the kids are 19 or 20 years old, I want to sit down with the parents to talk about the pros and cons," Oye said.

He said there are many reasons why local young people choose to enlist in the National Guard.

According to Oye, most high school students who enlist make a six-year commitment to the Guard.

With that commitment comes the benefit of the Guard paying for almost 100 percent of college tuition, depending on where the student goes to college.

McKayla Schilling of Ellsworth, a 2013 graduate of Luverne High School, is a local soldier whom Oye recruited.

"I was nervous to join the Guard," Schilling said. "But he was very helpful and explained that it's not as scary as it seems."

Schilling said that the benefits of enlisting in the National Guard are many.

"You get so much back," she said. "And people look at me differenty since I've joined the Guard."

1st Lt. Melanie Nelson, from the Minnesota National Guard Public Affairs office, said that Oye's level of recruitment success is rare.

"Recruiting more than 300 soldiers is a feat that very few others have attained," Nelson said.

In fact, according to Oye, there are only four recruiters in Minnesota who have reached the 300 enlisted milestone.

'We're old dudes, though. We've been recruiting for a while," he said.

School calendar marks passing of time, feelings of completion and renewal

One of the many benefits of being a teacher that I appreciate is the school calendar.

I'm not just talking about having "summers off," although that is part of it.

I'm also not referring to how some schools now consider May to be summer and August to be fall; that's a topic for another column.

I'm talking about how the flow of the school calendar marks the passing of time, gives us milestones along the way, allows for natural opportunities to recharge and recognizes when goals are met.

The cyclical nature of the school calendar provides a fresh start each fall (are we officially calling August "fall" now?) and a sense of accomplishment and relief every spring when another school year is completed.

Each year when a new school year begins, students and teachers alike experience feelings of anticipation, optimism and excitement for what's ahead.

New clothes, new schedules, new supplies, new students — all of it leads to renewed energy and the excitement that comes with new beginnings.

A new school year is a welcome fresh start for students, teachers, administrators and parents. It's a great feeling.

Of course the feelings that we have this time of year are pretty great, too.

At the end of the school year, students, parents and school staff can look back at what they have accomplished during the past nine months. Not to mention the past 13 years for graduating seniors or 30-some years for retiring teachers.

We celebrate the milestones we've shared along the way and appreciate the people we have shared these experiences with. We can also take a breath after the always hectic weeks that lead up to the end of the year, the end of high school, or the end of a career in education.

Indeed, excitement and relief can be mixed with some sadness when we reach the May page of the school calendar.

It can be hard to say goodbye to graduating seniors and co-workers we have worked with for years. The longer I teach in Adrian, the harder that seems to be getting.

On the other hand, this time of year allows for some needed rest and refocusing. We have a built-in need for a break, and I am thankful the school calendar allows for it.

Along with many other teachers and students, I get to step away from the daily routine of school to spend some time doing other things.

As you have noticed by now, I get to work part time writing for the Star Herald again this summer.

And some weekend nights I get to meet people from all over while selling tickets at the drivein theater on beautiful summer nights.

Thanks to the cyclical nature of the school calendar that I have followed for over 30 years now, it won't be long before the natural excitement and optimism of a new school year kicks in again.

It just won't happen before the back-to-school ads start showing up.

Consider buffer strips now to protect rivers

Earlier this year, Governor Dayton proposed legislation to require all public waters from lakes and rivers and drainage ditches to have a 50-foot vegetative buffer.

The governor wanted to protect our drinking water while increasing wildlife habitat. He met with resistance from landowners and agricultural groups who balked at the idea of a "one-size-fits-all" solution to the problem.

Last week's final agreement in the state legislature is very different from what the governor proposed.

It calls for the "voluntary" implementation of buffer strips and gives local soil and water conservation districts the authority to promote, educate and assist private landowners in the installation and implementation of buffers.

Farming groups said they know best how to manage soil erosion and implement the best practices, including the possible installation of buffer strips.

Now is the time for producers to show the public that they indeed know best and are willing to do what's best.

State agencies have already labeled the Rock River as impaired and the Environmental Working Group gave our lack of buffer strips an "F" grade.

STAR HERALD EDITORIAL

Rock County has almost 400 miles and 4,810 acres of land that is vulnerable to soil erosion and could benefit from buffer strips. Some of this land already has the appropriate protection. Now let's concentrate on the rest.

It's time for all of us to help take the Rock River off the impaired list and eliminate that failing grade.

But with no tools for enforcement in place, can the current practices of some producers really be changed?

Last year's flooding left the river's banks in terrible condition, but yet producers are still planting inches away from its banks as seen in the photo (below). taken last week.

Farming organizations have said that producers are able to police themselves and do what is right for the soil and water.

They say this comes naturally because it's an investment in the future — for their own productivity and for the environment.

Yet we don't have to drive far in Rock County to see heartbreaking erosion where soil has washed into ditches and streams.

What will it take for all producers to get on board?

We have many conservationminded farmers who are already working on it, but everyone needs to be on board.

For that to happen, we feel it starts with leadership.

Our local agricultural committees should officially recognize there is a problem and press for solutions.

Our government entities should do the same.

Our neighbor to the north, Pipestone County, is currently crafting a resolution acknowledging that soil erosion is a problem and supports the installation of buffer strips as a solution.

We look forward to similar action here in Rock County.

Fishing adventure brings stories of weather woes, a new rod and reel and uncontrollable laughter

I hung the "Gone Fishing" sign on the office door last week, and as you have come to expect when I am involved, the trip had some trials and tribulations.

One of my mottos in life is, "It's not what you have, it's who you know and what they have." Luckily for me, my two fishing buddies have everything needed for a great fishing trip to the Missouri River in South Dakota.

Fishing Buddy Leroy has the Holiday Inn Express-sized RV, and Fishing Buddy Dan has the 20-foot Minnesota-made Lund fishing boat powered by a 175-horse Yamaha.

My part in all of this is I take care of the logistics, such as campsite reservations, state park vehicle permits and bait, as well as food and beverages.

This is our third trip as a fishing trio, and one never knows what the weather will bring to the table or what the topic of conversation is going to be over the three days of fishing.

The weather was the same for the three days — windy, then more wind, a little rain, then a little more rain. Did I mention the wind? At the end of the three days the wind died down and this bright thing in the sky made a brief appearance on the last day of the trip.

On the topic of wind, traveling across South Dakota in a mobile Holiday Inn can be a challenge. We made a quick stop at Cabela's in Mitchell, South Dakota, to pick up bait, and I bought myself a new rod and reel that was sure to catch fish.

Shortly after we got back on the road, the wind picked up — so much, in fact, that it started to unravel one of the slide canopies. Lucky for us, we happened to be driving by a large camper dealership.

An hour later and $109 lighter, we were back on the road to West Bend, a South Dakota state park that caters to people who like to fish, and they do it right.

Once we settled into our campsite, we hit the water.

Overcast skies and, of course, the wind made fishing a challenge, but with my new rod and reel I figured it was just a matter of time before I hooked the big one. I'll fast forward here a bit. Some time had passed, and the only one in the boat who hadn't landed a fish was me with my new rod and reel.

It took about an hour before I caught my first fish, and that fish wasn't even long enough (there is a 15-inch minimum length requirement) to put in the live well.

Lucky for me, in South Dakota it's legal to fish with two poles at the same time, so I broke out my old rod and reel to double my chance of success with two lines in the water.

What I doubled was my rod and reel chaos. With the wind bobbing the boat up and down like a yo-yo, I was having about as much fun as having a root canal.

I thought Day 2 had to be better then Day 1. I didn't think it would be possible, but the wind picked up even more on Day 2.

Not to be deterred by the wind, I had a good feeling that my new rod and reel would come through and we would soon be fishing like a pro.

We had a little friendly fishing contest going on in the boat — you know, the kind that rewards the guy that catches the first fish, the biggest fish and so on. Well, my new rod and reel and I were in last place when finally we hooked a keeper. We didn't move up in the standing, but we had a fish in the live well.

By the end of the day my new rod and reel and I were starting to click. We were still in third place, but good things were starting to happen.

Day 2 of fishing was coming to a close and my new rod and reel and I felt that Day 3 was going to be our day. I mentioned earlier that you can fish with two rods in South Dakota. When doing so, you really have to pay attention to both rods at all times.

I know you know what's coming next, and you're right in your thinking. I was putting my old rod away for the day when I looked away for just a second, and then it happened.

Mynewrod and reel disappeared out of the back of the boat in an instant.

Once my fishing buddies' laughter subsided, they figured it was a snag that pulled my new rod and reel into the water. On the other hand, I'm going with the theory that I/we (my new rod and reel and I) just hooked a big one that would have catapulted us to the top of the fishing contest.

Unfortunately the rules committee (consisting of fishing buddies Leroy and Dan) overruled my theory and I ended the trip in last place.

We weren't able to recover my new rod and reel, and although our tenure together was short, I felt a bond building. While sad at the loss of my new rod and reel, I guess it was a fitting ending that he was lost at sea.

Even with less than ideal fishing conditions and the loss of my rod and reel, I am already looking forward to next year's trip. The summer is just getting started. Fish on.

Ladder truck helps repair flagpole

The well-known flag at Papa's Place Family Restaurant in Luverne was flying high again in time for Memorial Day weekend, thanks to help from members of the Luverne Fire Department.

Firefighter Jonathan Kurtz went up in the LFD's ladder truck on Thursday afternoon to replace the rope system that was damaged in a recent windstorm. According to restaurant owner Rick Scholten, the ladder truck is the only thing in town that could reach the top of the 70-foot pole.

Scholten said the flag measures 12x18 feet and needs to be replaced two to three times per year due to damage by the wind and other conditions.

The contract includes 5.9 miles of 14inch PVC pipe and 12.7 miles of 24-inch steel pipe.

Installation of the 14-inch PVC pipe began in early April, and completion should be by late May. The first section of 24-inch steel pipe was installed May 12.

Weather permitting, Luverne is expected to begin receiving Lewis & Clark water in December 2015. The city has reserved 821,000 gallons a day.

GETTING ALL THE DUCKS IN A ROW ..

Ducklings rescued from city storm sewer, released

By Mavis Fodness

Thanks to three concerned citizens, nine ducklings are roaming in a safer environment.

On Thursday, May 21, Luverne businessmen Bill Weber and Gene Cragoe were working at their respective offices on Cedar and Main streets.

"I was talking to someone on the phone ... I couldn't believe it," Cragoe said about his reaction to glancing out the window.

Shortly before 11 a.m. a wood duck hen was waddling down Cedar Street "like she owned the sidewalk" followed by nine ducklings, he said.

Bill Weber noticed the mother duck and ducklings at about the same time as Cragoe did, and he photographed the birds as they headed to Main Street past his Jensen Management Office.

As the duck family neared the busy intersection at Main Street, something scared the birds.

"They hopped in the street and mom walked onto the sewer grate and one by one the little ones disappeared," Weber said.

James Misino of Luverne was walking east toward the corner of Cedar and Main when he saw the scared hen and three ducklings in front of Sincerely Yours on Main about half way down the block from where the ducklings cross the storm sewer grate.

Misino could hear quacking coming from up the street.

An animal lover, Misino didn't hesitate in trying to save the little black and yellow ducklings standing just under the grate opening.

"I leaned down to try to get them out," he said. Five ducklings were scooped out by hand and placed in a five-gallon bucket by Misino. There they joined the three ducklings that hadn't fallen through the grate. A ninth yellow and black fuzzy duckling could be heard but not seen within the series of pipes.

The lost duckling was found in the center of Main Street underground.

Two city workers were able to remove the manhole cover and used a flashlight to reveal the missing duckling 20 feet below street level.

Weber had called Mike Gangestad, city of Luverne's animal control officer, about the ducklings. Gangestad was able to attach a longer pole to a net and safely retrieve the last duckling.

During the 45-minute ordeal, the mother duck could be seen flying around the area, but she never came back to the cries of the ducklings.

"They usually come back," Gangestad said. He said he is called to remove ducks and their broods from various locations in the city. It is common for wood duck hens to nest in an egress window, and once her ducklings are strong enough, they head off in search of a better area to raise the young.

The duck rescuers found the Rock River current to be too strong from recent rains, so Gangestad released the ducklings at the creamery pond on the west side of Luverne.

At the pond, other waterfowl could be seen in the area. He released the nine ducklings from the pail and they immediately scrabbled for the water.

"They swam off real good," he said.

Bill Weber took this picture of a wood duck hen and her nine ducklings before six of the ducklings fell through the storm sewer grate in downtown Luverne. All nine were rescued and relocated to the creamery pond on the west side of Luverne.

Nine ducklings (below) were rescued near Main Street in downtown Luverne. Six of the ducklings fell into the storm sewer and rescuers were able to catch the other three who ran to a storefront with their mother before she flew away

The prediction for frost didn't hit the mark for most gardens, but my garden is the lowest point in town and we had frost twice. It's frustrating because the 10-day forecast would indicate lows in the 40s. So I covered and uncovered and covered and uncovered, and in spite of the light frost, the only plants I lost were the ones I damaged trying to protect them ... that's how it is.

Right now is the time to prune mugho pines to keep them in shape and to control their size. Remove half to three fourths of that new growth called the "candle."

Bridal wreath spireas are glorious this weekend and as soon as they are finished blooming,

KNOW IT AND GROW IT

By George Bonnema, Luverne

remove the old stems to encourage new growth from the base. That will control the size of the shrub and give that beautiful flowing form that is the natural shape for this spirea, I despise seeing them trimmed to a "box" form, and the flower show is not what they are capable of presenting. Lilacs, mock orange, and weigelias follow right behind on that pruning schedule. This gives the new growth time to mature and establish flower buds for the next season

Perennial flower beds are looking great after the rain and this is a good time to apply a granular fertilizer to get the maximum benefit for the color they will be giving. The three-number analysis on every fertilizer package tells what you need to know for using what where. For blooming plants, the middle number should be larger than the first, meaning that there is more phosphorus than nitrogen in that formulation ... that will be the best to encourage maximum bloom. Nitrogen is necessary for foliage growth and will produce the green color, but too much nitrogen gives lush growth at the expense of flower development.

With deeply impressive services, Luverne's handsome new Masonic hall was formally dedicated Wednesday evening, the services being conducted by officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Minnesota. The services were witnessed by about two hundred and fifty members of the local Masonic orders and members of Masonic orders of other towns in this section.

By Betty Mann, president Rock County Historical Society

John W. Ulrich, worshipful master of Ben Franklin Lodge, No. 114, A. F. & A. M. presided over the exercises and later introduced the various speakers.

The officers of the grand lodge who conducted the services were: Herman Held, Mankato, grand master; D. M. Knowlton, Minneapolis, grand treasurer; John Fishel, St. Paul, grand secretary; Hayden French, Ortonville, grand junior warden; L. F. Pray, Minneapolis, grand senior warden; and G. F. Streater, Winona, grand marshall. These officials were assisted by past worshipful masters of Ben Franklin lodge and other Blue lodges in this vicinity, the worshipful masters by right of office being members of the grand lodge, and by a quartette, composed of Mrs. G. W. Fried, Miss Mary Aldrich, Mr. James Horne and Mr. L. H. Jones, which sang the odes forming a part of the service.

At the close of the services Grand Master Held announced that Mr. Ulrich hadbeen elected an officer of the grand lodge of Minnesota, an honor that is accorded but few as there are only seventeen grand officers in the state, and as the grand lodge was then and there in session he would duly install the new officer. The office to which Mr. Ulrich was elected was grand pursuivant and he was duly installed.

Following these ceremonies, short and appropriate addresses were made by Messers. Held, Knowlton, Fishel, B. H. Timberlake of Minneapolis, and C. O. Wright of this city. Mr. Timberlake is secretary of the Masonic Home association and he devoted his talk largely to explanation of the plans for the proposed state home. Dr. Wright confined his talk to a brief history of the Masonic order in Luverne, in which he broughtout that Ben Franklin lodge was organized in January, 1875.

An excellent luncheon was served all present in the dining room on the first floor of the temple following the exercises, and this in turn was followed by dancing.

Among those from out of town in attendance at the exercises were Masons and members of their families from Worthington, Windom, Heron Lake, Adrian, Wilmont, Hills, Beaver Creek and Ashcreek.

Warm praise was voiced by the officers of the grand lodge for the members of the local Masonic orders for the enterprise shown by them in the erection of the handsome and commodious temple, which they declared to be one of the finest in the state outside of the large cities.

Luverne graduate makes appearance on popular home purchase television show

By Lori Sorenson

Local fans of the popular television series "House Hunters" will recognize the featured Realtor in a segment recently filmed in Sioux Falls.

Ashley (Gacke) Bartholomaus is a Realtor with the Tony Ratchford Group of Keller Williams Realty in Sioux Falls.

She sent House Hunters producers an audition tape of herself describing her experience working with a young couple, Damon Thielen and Jessica Brown, helping them find a house.

Her audition tape described the couple's contrasting personalities and differing opinions on what they wanted in a home on their budget.

"He hated everything she liked, and she hated everything he liked," Bartholomaus said. "They actually said they'd be perfect for House Hunters."

The segment aired May 19, but it will be available on On Demand (Season 100, Episode 5, called Mid-Century Modern vs. Bungalow in Sioux Falls.)

This is the first time Sioux Falls has been featured on the show, and the segment includes scenes of downtown, the falls and other popular landmarks in the city.

"It puts Sioux Falls in a very cool light," Bartholomaus said. "I'm excited."

After watching, she said the episode was all she hoped it would be.

"I'm very happy," she said. "It actually came off like real life."

She said her clients, after being recorded for the show, later feared that they had been too honest in their reactions.

But Bartholomaus said the show's producers and editors had professionally clipped pieces together for a positive flow.

"My clients came off as really fun," she said. "They really made it a playful, fun episode. It showed my personality really well, how I operate with clients."

Bartholomaus, a 2001 graduate of Luverne High School, is the daughter of Curt and Joni Gacke and the granddaughter of Don and Phyllis Schouwenburg, all of Luverne.

The segment will eventually be posted online at HGTV.com, and it's so far scheduled for an additional airing at 4:30 p.m. June 27. Meanwhile, it's available on YouTube as a $2 download.

The Luverne tennis team won its sixth consecutive Section 3A Team Tournament by posting a pair of wins in Redwood Falls May 19.

The Cardinals defeated Worthington 4-3 in the semifinals before topping Montevideo by the same score in the championship match.

By winning the section title, the 13-7 Cardinals advance to the Minnesota State Class A Tennis Tournament in Minneapolis.

The Cardinals meet The Blake School at 10 a.m., June 2, during a quarterfinal round match at the Reed-Sweat Family Tennis Center.

"We are going to the state tournament for the sixth year in a row," said Cardinal coach Greg Antoine.

"This wouldn't be possible if it weren't for all the great players I've had the privilege of coaching here in Luverne over the past 13 years."

LHS 4, Montevideo 3

Luverne's doubles teams dominated play to pave the way to victory against the Thunder Hawks during the title tilt.

LHS won all three doubles matches in straight sets and a victory from senior Cory Stroeh in singles to capture the section championship.

"We were hoping to get three points from our doubles teams in both matches and one point in singles during both matches," Antoine said.

"As it turns out, that was the case in both matches. Our doubles have been great all year, and today (May 19) was no exception."

Dalton Schoeneman and Chris Jelken secured 6-0 and 6-2 victories over Connor Dann and Ryan Neville at first doubles, while Mark Robinson and Cade VerSteeg saddled Donavon Albers and Brandon Johnson with a pair of 6-1 setbacks at No. 2.

Tanner Baustian and Isaac Gillette completed the Luverne senior Cory Stroeh posted a pair of crucial wins at No. 2 singles to help the Cardinal tennis team win the Section 3A Team Tournament for the sixth-straight year.

Stroeh came through with a big performance at second singles to secure the title for LHS.

After splitting the first two sets with Taylor Landmark (6-4, 5-7), Stroeh fell behind 4-0 in the third set.

The LHS senior, however, rallied to win six consecutive games to pull out a 6-4 win.

Landmark evened the match with a 7-5 victory in the second set, but Stroeh took the finale 6-4 to send the Cards to state.

"Cory was fighting cramps in his right leg, so it didn't look too good for us as a team," Antoine said.

"I don't think anyone can witnessed."

Montevideo's singles wins came from Jared Saue (6-3, 6-2 over Erik Wohnoutka at No. 1), Riley Emery (6-1, 6-4 over Jacob Jarchow at No. 3) and Noah Stoeckman (6-2, 6-2 over Trey Baustian at No. 4).

The Cardinals reached the title tilt by a one-point win over the Trojans in a semifinalround match that wasn't as close as the final score indicates.

Having already posted four wins, Luverne's Wohnoutka, Jarchow and Trey Baustian withdrew from the singles matches to save some energy another key effort against Worthington's Nick Newman.

Trailing 5-2 in the first set, Stroeh rallied to win 11 consecutive games to secure a 7-5, 6-0 victory.

"It was one of the best comebacks I have witnessed in a long time," Antoine said.

The LHS doubles teams won three matches in straight sets.

Jelken and Schoeneman produced a pair of 6-0 wins against Jonah McDonald and Orissa Nitibhon at No. 1, and Robinson and VerSteeg disposed of Sebastian Licea and Levi Blanchard by 6-2 and 6-1 tallies at No. 2.

Eighteen LHS girls qualify

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne girls emerged as the team champion of the first Section 3A South Sub-Section Track and Field meet staged in Pipestone Thursday.

Competing in a 13-team field, Luverne scored 148.75 points to best second-place finishing Southwest Christian-Edgerton (90.75 points) and the rest of the teams on hand for the meet.

Along with claiming the team crown, 18 LHS athletes earned the right to compete at the Section 3A meet set for Thursday in Luverne.

Athletes automatically qualify for section competition by placing sixth or better at the sub-section event.

Athletes who place seventh or higher in sub-section events also can advance if their performances are good enough to earn one of the four at-large berths (based on their performances against the athletes from the North Sub-Section) in the section field.

Luverne, which earned 21 automatic berths into section competition, captured seven event titles and four secondplace efforts in Pipestone.

Gabrielle Ferrell (5:27.21 in the 1,600 and 11:53.58 in the 3,200), Morgan Edwards (36-6 in the shot and 110-10 in the discus), Tayla Peterson (26.88 in the 200), and Courtney Siebenahler (33-3 ¹/₂ in the triple jump) claimed individual titles for LHS.

Luverne athletes remain alive in new 3AA format

By John Rittenhouse

Ten Luverne golfers remain alive in the new Section 3AA Golf Tournament format that is making its debut this season.

In past years, the tournament included four sub-section events played at four different sites.

All the teams in the section are meeting at the same time this season for a two-day, 36-hole competition that will lead to one section champion and five individual state qualifiers based on 36-hole performances.

The LHS girls, who opened the tournament at the Oakdale Golf Course near Buffalo Lake Thursday, remain in contention for a section team title.

The teams that produced the five best tallies during the first 18 holes of play earn the right to return to Buffalo Lake Thursday, when the tournament will be completed.

LHS shot a 370 as a team, which was the fourth best tally in a 14-team field.

MinnewaskaArea(321), Marshall(325), Jackson CountyCentral (370) and Litchfield (379) join LHS as squads still competing for the team title, and all of the scores they produced on Day 1 will carry over into the final round.

Makayla Sterrett (90), Hailey Remme (92), Madison Crabtree (93) and Hannah VerSteeg (95) made contributions to Luverne's team tally during the opening round, while Hailey Franken shot a 113 without influencing the scoring.

The LHS boys played their first round of the tournament in Willmar Thursday.

The Cards recorded a 347, which was the sixth-best tally produced by a team during the opening round.

That means Luverne's 30-16 team season is complete, but five Cardinals earned the right to compete in Thursday's final round in Buffalo Lake.

Along with the teams that produced the five best scores during Day 1 of the competition, 14 individuals who are not members of the five advancing teams get the chance to compete in the second round of the tournament.

Advancing for LHS are Colton Arends (85), Chaz Smedsrud (85), Coy Gonnerman (88), Mark Spreiter (89) and Jack Baustian (89). Casey Klosterbuer carded a 95 without advancing.

Stroeh's resolve sends LHS netters to state

The Luverne tennis team will make its sixth consecutive appearance at the Minnesota State Class A Team Tournament Tuesday in Minneapolis.

If it wasn't for the will of the team's lone senior, the streak would have come to end during the Section 3A title tilt in Redwood Falls May 19.

Cory Stroeh, Luverne's No. 2 singles entry, didn't just win two matches during the final two section contests. He turned in two of the most memorable performances that LHS coach Greg Antoine has seen during his 13-year tenure as head coach.

"I don't know if anyone can have a bigger day than Cory did," Antoine stated.

"He just didn't have any quit in him. Once he got rolling, he just kept it going."

Stroeh staged one of the most impressive rallies Antoine has witnessed during his match in the semifinals against Worthington's Nick Newman.

After dropping the first five games to Newman, Stroeh reeled off 11 consecutive wins to secure a 7-5, 6-0 victory. Stroeh staged another comeback during his match against Montevideo's Taylor Landmark in the section finals.

The second comeback was an epic rally, the kind of effort that legends are made of.

With the match between LHS and Montevideo tied at three points each, the Stroeh-Landmark showdown was for all the marbles.

The winner would send his team to the state tournament, so the stakes couldn't be any higher.

Stroeh took the opening set by a 6-4 margin, but Landmark evened the match with a 7-5 victory in the second set.

The third set would was forced to play the allimportant set under duress. "I was getting tired and started getting cramps in my right calf," he recalled.

"By the end of the set, my whole leg was hurting. It was the first time I ever started cramping up during a match, and it couldn't have come at a worse time. It did influence my play, but I knew I had to fight through Landmark took advantage of the situation by winning the first four games of the final set, leaving the Montevideo junior two wins away from clinching a state berth for the Thunder Hawks.

Those wins never came to Landmark largely due to the resolve displayed by Stroeh the rest of the match.

"When I was down 4-0 in the third set, I started thinking about the last time we never made it to state when I was in the seventh grade," Stroeh said.

"I didn't want to be the senior that ended the streak, and that gave me some inspiration. I was really inconsistent during the first four games of the third set, and my opponent was hitting the shots he needed to. Once I got settled in, I started moving him back and forth and was able to sneak in some drop shots and score some points for myself."

Stroeh did more than score a couple of points.

Playing through pain and limited mobility, he won the final six games of the set to give the Cardinals their section title.

"It probably was the most gutsy performance I've ever witnessed," Antoine offered.

Stroeh offered a different take on the final result. "I just had to fight through it (the pain) because I wasn't going to be the guy who ended the streak," he

Huskies oust Cardinal girls from section field

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne Cardinals bowed out of the Section 3AA Softball Tournament May 19 in Pipestone.

Luverne, the tournament's sixth seed, met No. 3 Jackson County Central during the event's opening round.

The game was tight through three and one-half innings, but JCC put together a pair of five-run rallies late in the game to secure an 11-1 victory in six innings.

Luverne ends the campaign with a 6-12 record.

The game started off on a promising note for the Cards as they loaded the bases with one walk and two singles.

Two outs later, Luverne scored the game's first run on a passed ball.

Unfortunately for the Cards, it would be the last run they would score in 2015.

JCC knotted the score at one with an RBI double in the bottom of the second before using four hits to help plate five runs in the fourth inning to open a 6-1 advantage.

The Huskies settled the issue in the bottom of the sixth, when they recorded five more runs to end the game by the 10-run rule.

Alexis Hiller and Rylee Olson led the Cardinals at the plate with two hits each.

Katie Kracht, Brianna Jonason, Ariel DeBeer and Madi Oye contributed one hit each.

Olson took the pitching loss after tossing five and two-thirds innings of 11-run, nine-hit, three-walk, onestrikeout ball.

E-SWC, which produced 21 hits in the contest, put together four-run rallies in the first and third innings and scored five runs in the second to open a 13-0 cushion.

The Flying Dutchmen capped the scoring by scoring once in the fourth. AA's Alicia Lunt came through with her team's lone hit when she singled in the second inning.

Devin Dreesen pitched the first two and one-third innings for the Dragons and took the loss.

at-large entries into the meet.

Zach Scholten, who advances as an at-large entry after placing eighth with a toss of 109-2 in the discus, claimed the lone subsection title for the boys by clearing 6-1 to win the high jump.

Scholten also was a member of H-BC's 800-meter relay along with Isaiah Wagenaar, Logan Leuthold and Cooper Vaughn, who automatically qualified for the section meet by placing fifth with a time of 1:42.06 in Pipestone.

Other individuals to qualify for the section meet automatically for the boys include Carey Taubert (second in the 400 in 52.74 and third in the triple jump with a distance of 40-2 $\frac{3}{4}$), Drew Forshey (fourth in the high jump after clearing 5-9) and Isaiah Vis (fourth in the long and triple jumps with respective 19-6 and 39-4 $\frac{1}{2}$ distances).

The Patriot boys also placed fourth in the 400-meter relay with a time of 47.19 to advance automatically. Vaughn, Forshey, Vis and Taubert formed the team.

Forshey also captured an at-large entry into section competition by placing seventh in the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 17.69.

The H-BC girls, who placed 11th out of 13 teams with 19 points, qualified automatically into section competition in two events.

Jenna Wilgenburg won the 800-meter run with a time of 2:24.61. Wilgenburg also joined forces with Paige Tilstra, Madison Spath and Sidney Fick to placed third in the 1,600-meter relay with a time of 4:20.47.

Kourtney Rozeboom advances to the section meet as an atlarge entry after placing eighth in the discus with a toss of 86-11.

H-BC's 400-meter relay also earned an at-large berth into section competition by placing seventh in 54.22. Sadie Fuerstenberg, Spath, Fick and Tilstra formed the team.

Second-seeded Springfield scored six runs in the first four innings to open a 6-0 lead and outscored the Dragons 2-1 the rest of the way to win by seven.

Adrian's lone run came in the top of the fifth inning, when Tony Sieve drew a walk and his courtesy runner, Jake Stammer, scored on an RBI double by Nate Lonneman to make it a 6-1 game.

The Tigers scored twice in the bottom of the fifth to cap the scoring.

Sieve yielded four runs in two innings and took the pitching loss.

Brady Lonneman and Michael Preuss also pitched for the Dragons.

AHS 10, Wabasso 0

The Dragons made short work of the Rabbits when they handed them a 10-run loss in four and one-half innings during Saturday's opening game.

Logan Rogers tossed a five-inning no-hitter for AHS, fanning nine of the 18 batters he faced.

Rogers also drove in three runswith three hits at the plate.

AHS gained control of the game with a six-run rally in the second inning featuring RBI singles by Nate Lonneman, Cody Polzine and Rogers.

Preuss and Sieve drew bases-loaded walks during the inning and Brady Lonneman was hit by a pitch with the sacks full.

The Dragons upped the lead to 9-0 with a three-run rally in the third that included a two-run single by Rogers and a sacrifice fly by Preuss.

The game ended by the 10-run rule when Brady Lonneman slapped a runscoring double. The Adrian baseball team wrapped up an 11-6 regular season by playing a non-conference game in Worthington May 19.

The home-standing Trojans controlled the game by posting a 14-3 victory in a contest that ended after four and one-half innings of play due to the 10run rule.

Worthington scored four runs in the bottom half of the first inning before Adrian received RBI singles from Nolan Rogers, Cody Polzine and Michael Preuss to make it 4-3 in the top of the second.

The score remained the same until the bottom of the third, when Worthington exploded for nine runs before capping the scoring by adding one run in the bottom of the fourth.

Alex Loosbrock started the game on the mound for Adrian and took the loss.

Heart of God

"For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I among them." Matthew 18:20 ESV

Last Saturday evening I was sitting in our screen tent, soaking in the surroundings of our campsite, reading a faith-based magazine. I love the sounds of the lake —boaters, waves lapping against the shore, a fish or two jumping out of the water.

Fun also are the sounds of people. Kids playing, adults talking, jet skiers whooping it up and showing off as they streak across the open expanse of the lake.

I heard a lady's voice in the campsite directly behind me across the road. I couldn't pinpoint the language, but it sounded like German or Dutch. Just as I was finishing the last few pages of the final story in my magazine, I heard a voice in my heart say, "Give your magazine to her." I was still contemplating how I could do that when my husband rode in on his bicycle. "I just met the nicest people from the Netherlands. I'll introduce you to them." I put the booklet in my jacket pocket. It turned out that they were an adventuresome couple that loved to travel. We visited together like the best of friends. Before we headed back to our trailer I was able to share the magazine with her. She was delighted to have something to read as they traveled. Then we also had the opportunity to pray with the two of them for a safe continued journey.

For me one of the deepest joys is having the opportunity to share my faith in a natural, unselfconscious way. It's like getting to do what we were created to do — touching the very heart of God.

Thank You, Lord, for letting us share the heart of who we are with others — and more importantly, sharing the heart of who You are. Open our eyes to the opportunities You prepare for us everyday. In Jesus' name, Amen.

CARDS OF THANKS

It is hard for me to express my thanks for al the great things given to me for my 90th birthday! The flowers, plants, phone calls, hugs and the beautiful messages on all the cards I received. The money received will be given to charity. The tears flowed every day when I opened up the cards, you all were so generous with your messages. Please know how much I enjoyed the cards. Thanks to my five children and their spouses for such a lovely dinner at Mankato on May 12th. The setting beside the pool and the good laughter among the five will never be forgotten. God Bless all my family and all my friends, as God has blessed me for 90
