Housing development planned for southwest Luverne neighborhood

By Jason Berghorst

A new 30-unit multifamily housing project is being considered for southwest Luverne.

The Southwest Minnesota Housing Partnership (SWMHP) is exploring the potential of the new development in the Sybesma subdivision.

The organization is hosting an open house from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 20, at the Trailhead building at 601 E. Main Street to share the proposal and gather feedback from community members.

Luverne Economic Development Director Holly Sammons said the open house will be a casual, come-and-go style event.

"The proposed housing development will be presented in static exhibits with no formal presentation," said Sammons.

"SWMHP staff will be present for questions, comments and conversations related to the development and housing needs in general in Luverne."

The housing partnership has been working with the city to conceptualize a housing project similar to the Luverne Family Housing development that was completed on the neighboring property years ago.

The current proposal includes 30 mixed-income rental townhome units on a 3.4-acre site just to the west of the current similar development. The address is 1101 County Road 4. Access to the site would be via County Road 4 and

Hardwick buys 9 acres of Scott land for growth

By Mavis Fodness

The city of Hardwick is growing in size — nine acres to be exact.

An agreement was signed Tuesday by the Hardwick City Council to purchase the nine-acre property from the Scott family for $88,000.

The new area is referred to as the Scott Addition.

The addition will allow the city to offer seven acres for commercial and residential development, with two acres set aside for a possible new fire hall.

The nine-acre parcel is located on the city's western edge, south of County Road 7, and wraps around the south end of Buckingham Street.

The additional land is a welcome solution to inquiries received by the city.

"We have people ask if there are lots in Hardwick to build on or move in a home," said Mayor Tom Haas. "We do, but they are small."

Three years ago, Denver Township inquired about constructing a multi-purpose building in or near the Hardwick city limits. Both the city of Hardwick and Denver Township supported a new, shared township/fire hall structure.

However, the joint project stalled due to the lack of a suitable location.

Surrounded by farmland, Hardwick at that time had no property owners interested in selling a portion of their farmland to the city until late last year.

Six months ago, city officials began working with the Scott family, who have been the only land

By Mavis Fodness

Mail ballot voting will continue to be an option in Rock County after commissioners at their June 6 meeting opted to leave it in

For the past six months they have been considering the county auditor's request to have all precincts return to in-person voting.

That would mean the 17 precincts that currently use the option would have to arrange for voting machines and polling places.

Election official Ashley Kurtz requested the change because she said she was concerned about her personal safety and the safety of those who work in the auditortreasurer's office.

In the weeks leading up to the November 2022 general election, Kurtz said she and her staff were subjected to harassing phone calls and in-person accusations that the election process and mail ballots were fraudulent.

Many callers did not identify themselves nor fully listen to an explanation of the state's election validation process.

"In 2022 we didn't expect that anything like this would happen," Kurtz told commissioners last not through the neighborhoods of Pine Drive or Cherry Drive.

The proposed twostory townhomes can include two-, three- and four-bedroom units with in-unit laundry and private garages.

According to Sammons, this housing type appeals to multiple demographics including families, young professionals and aging adults looking to downsize.

"The Luverne Family Housing project has been a very successful development, and there's always a waiting list for those homes," Sammons said.

The SWMHP has expressed interest in developing the site as developer, owner and operator of the project.

According to Sammons, the exact unit rents for the proposed development are yet to be finalized and will be based on local needs and the unique financial supports available for the development which will help determine the project's rental mix.

One potential funding source is Minnesota Housing's competitive consolidated RFP. The SWMHP will use feedback from the open house in their application process. If funding is not secured this year, the partnership could apply again next year and into the future.

"Many communities are facing housing shortages across the entire income spectrum, and many housing projects take years to secure funding since the gaps are wide and the resources are scarce," Sammons said.

"We're in this for the long haul. It's never too early to start the discussion on the next potential housing project."

The city is partnering with SWMHP on the project through planning efforts, site selection, and possibly establishing a tax-increment financing (TIF) district, which could help lower the funding gaps considerably.

"Luverne is fortunate that 54 market-rate apartments were recently constructed, but there has been no affordable new construction housing built in Luverne in recent years," Sammons said.

"The addition of these townhome units would help support that future need for Luverne's growth."

The total project cost is $66,405, not including additional interior updates and remodeling that aren't part of the application, according to EDA director Holly Sammons.

"So, they are making a very large investment into the exterior and interior of the building, so it's exciting to see," she said.

The EDA approved a grant for Prairie Water Solutions in the amount of $21,000 and a loan in the amount of $21,000 at a rate of 4 percent for seven years.

Culligan is currently renting space in the brick building on West Main Street that formerly housed Palace Video.

Culligan now owns the former Stroeh's space on East Main Street.

•adding a new awning and business signage.

City

County opts to continue mail ballots/ from page 1A

questioning the process."

In response to Kurtz's concerns, commissioners met with the township and city officials (whose precincts use the mail ballot process) to consider returning to in-person voting.

The majority of the officials who attended the meeting said they wanted to keep using the mail ballot option.

Kyle Hemme, a supervisor with Denver Township, for example, told commissioners the majority of his township residents like the convenience of the mail ballot process with only one expressing concern.

"As long as we can have a discussion and be civilized about it, I think we will be good. Nothing should ever be directed toward Ashley personally," Hemme said.

"I think she put it in pretty good terms that she checks and doublechecks all the equipment and how the votes are sent back up to the state. I think our elections are very well run down here."

While voting options remain unchanged in Rock County, procedures may change in the auditor-treasurer's office.

"If your office needs help, we are here to make sure you guys are comfortable doing your job safely," said Commissioner Gary Overgaard.

"We want it to be known that we won't put up with someone coming into your office and giving you hassle. That's not called for you're just doing your job."

One suggestion is a dedicated phone line to answer election questions. Other safeguards may be brought forth by office staff.

"When the (dedicated) phone is ringing and they are calling about elections, you can kind of be prepared and not caught off guard," Kurtz said.

"I feel we are at least going into this (coming) election prepared."

Mail ballot districts in Rock County include the cities of Hardwick, Kenneth, Magnolia, Steen, Jasper and Beaver Creek as well as the townships of Kanaranzi, Magnolia, Clinton, Beaver Creek, Luverne, Mound, Rose Dell, Springwater, Vienna, Denver and Battle Plain.

In-person voting is conducted in the cities of Luverne and Hills and in Martin Township.

The event was organized by the Luverne Area Chamber, which distributed 200 children's safety vests and 19 hard hats to the 250 kids and an estimated 500 parents and volunteers who touched, sat and enjoyed the large vehicles that keep Luverne and Rock County safe and running.

Touch a Truck among dozens of free events

By Jason Berghorst

The Plaza on Main in downtown Luverne hosted its first of many events this summer last week.

The LIFT Plaza Committee, with the support of other local organizations and business sponsors, has organized dozens of free events throughout the summer.

Most of them will take place at the plaza on the corner of Main Street and McKenzie Street.

According to Luverne Area Chamber Director Jane Lanphere, the goal of the events is to build community by offering activities that are free of charge.

"We encourage everyone to take part in these events and help us grow and develop our community through family-friendly events," Lanphere said.

Already this month the LIFT Plaza Committee has hosted live music on the Plaza, a "Touch a Truck Night," a dance exercise event for seniors and a Dairy Appreciation Day with free ice cream given away over the lunch hour.

"We thank all the businesses and organizations who have joined together to create a wonderful summer of events that our friends, neighbors, families and visitors can enjoy," Lanphere said.

Upcoming events include:

Bingo on the Plaza June 15: Play bingo for free from 10 to 11 a.m. Thursday, June 15, at the Plaza on Main, hosted by Rock County Opportunities.

Stick Fitness June 16: Stick Fitness is a free exercise class hosted by Luverne Aquatic & Fitness at the Plaza on Main from 10 to 11 a.m. Friday, June 16.

Child's Remembrance Garden visitors encouraged to '... say their names'

A chain link fence separates my backyard from the new Child's Remembrance Garden in the northwest corner of Luverne.

The formerly neglected space in Tonto – now Firefly Park – has been transformed into a stunning collection of brick paths, a stone wall, a labyrinth, a fountain, a pergola and lots of greenscape.

The purpose of the garden is, "To provide a nondenominational safe area for people who have lost a child to grieve, remember and Dozens of people meander through the garden every day. Some come alone to sit on one of the benches and stare quietly at nothing.

Others come with a spouse or a friend and stare together.

Kids charge directly up the rock wall and balance precariously on its highest edge. A sign proclaiming, "Do not climb" would be completely pointless.

Riders from the bike path park their bikes and wander through the garden, helmets in hand, reading the names on the bricks.

Occasionally a group will take a seat at the table under the pergola and rest awhile.

Young lovers on long walks, believing they are alone, use the space to process their issues. They are not alone. I am watering my shrubs and am right there with them.

I interviewed the members of the committee whose efforts built the garden. One desire they expressed is that the garden would be a place where their loved ones would be remembered. "We want people to say their names."

Lots of sounds fill the garden. The ring of my wind chimes drifts across the fence.

A family of crows screeched and cawed its way through spring.

Squeaking chains on the park swings sometimes provide an odd background rhythm.

Kids yell.

Dogs bark.

A lawn mower. A weed eater.

A truck braking on the highway.

A pheasant in the bean field honks his authority over the territory. Blended with it all is the sound of water splashing from the garden's rock fountain. And sometimes, people walking through the garden begin to read aloud the names on the bricks.

From my side of the chain link fence I listen and cherish the sound.

"It's working."

Accidental 911 calls are taxing emergency responders

Make sure your phone doesn't contribute to the problem

Dispatch centers across the state and across the country are experiencing a significant uptick in pocket dials and hang-ups — with some 911 call centers seeing these calls go up 300 percent.

These misdials often require dispatchers and law enforcement officers to follow up with the caller to see if there is an emergency, which prevents them from answering other legitimate calls for emergency help.

In Rock County, our dispatchers have reported similar dropped 911 calls.

For example, there were 411 abandon 911 calls in 2022, according to Margaret Pettit, lead dispatcher in the Rock County Sheriff's Office.

This year she said there have been 347 abandon 911 calls since Jan. 1, 2023. In May there were 84 and so far since June 1 there have been 55.

"Accidental 911s have always been and continue to be an issue for our agency," Pettit said. "The update with Android uses has certainly increased this."

While public safety leaders investigate what may be causing this spike in accidental calls, there are steps the public can take now to help ease the strain.

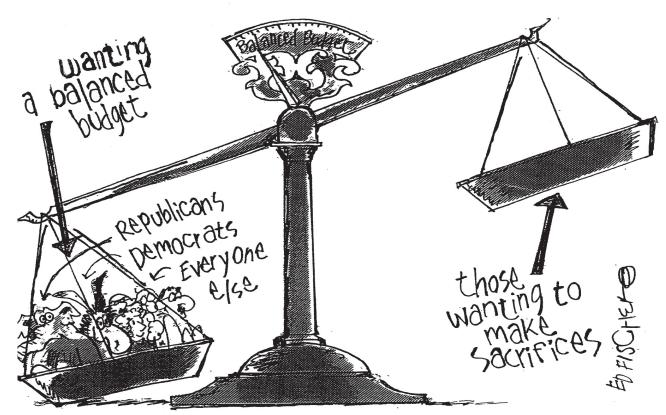

•The public is asked to be aware that devices, such as cell phones or smart watches, can make emergency calls. Knowing how to activate the "Emergency SOS" feature can reduce instances of accidentally triggering a device - especially during high-movement activities.

STAR HERALD EDITORIAL

•Sometimes it's just an instance of lint or grease jamming the trigger, so cleaning and maintaining the device may be another solution.

·Locking keypads using the keypad lock feature prevents a phone from responding to keystrokes until the user unlocks the keypad to intentionally make phone calls.

Finally, anyone who calls 911 by mistake should not hang up. The public is asked to let the dispatcher know the call was a mistake so they can end the call and move on to the next caller.

Well-planned trip goes awry thanks to computer input error

My last column was about my fishing trip, and this one is about Mary's and my recent trip to Las Vegas.

To give you an idea of how the overall trip went, the file I created for all the flight, hotel and other information was called "the trip from hell" file.

We were one of four couples going to Vegas to celebrate the 65th birthday of the "baby" of the group. He was the first of the group to book the flight for himself and his wife, and he did so on Frontier Airlines through Expedia. He shared with us the unbelievable low price and great departure time, albeit out of Minneapolis. We had never before used Expedia or flown on Frontier Airlines but went ahead and booked our tickets.

One day after the flights were booked and hotel reservations were made, our flights were canceled and a couple of other Frontier flight options were made available. Option one took 13 hours to get there, and option two was

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH

By Rick Peterson, general manager on completely different days than when we wanted to go. Needless to say, we cancelled everything and started the process over. We ended up flying Delta to and from, and I can't say enough good things about Delta ... highly recommend them.

That's not to say our experience with the TSA was delightful. After zigzagging our way through the line to get to Mr.TSA and present our driver's license, which we did, upon his inspection of said license, he said the words you never want to hear from Mr. TSA: "We have a problem here."

It seems while I was booking our tickets, I put my date of birth on Mary's ticket and her date of birth on my ticket. Mr. TSA seemed to be taking great pleasure in telling me I had to go back to the Delta ticketing area and have them change the dates of birth.

As you can imagine, I handled this with great calmness and control of any verbal outburst.

Mr. TSA told us that once we had the corrections made, we could come back through the priority line directly to the front of the line.

Lucky for me, Delta had a "Delta help agent" line for stupid people like me that need help fixing their mistakes. It was no surprise that the Delta help agent ... and now Mary ... seemed to take great pleasure in my blunder.

Another reason to recommend Delta is this little booking error on my part was fixed in as little as three minutes and the Petersons were headed back to Mr. TSA in the priority line right to the front of the line. Mr. TSA greeted us with "That didn't take long." He wasn't sure if the change would be in the system that quickly. He checked and thankfully the dates had been corrected and the problem solved.

That was until Mr.TSA said we have another problem: The gendersare wrong. I had Mary listed as male and me as female. So much for calmness, and the verbal outburst was just about to be unleashed when I had a thought. I asked Mr. TSA, "When you consider the world we live in today, do you think our gender really matters?" He looked at me and said, "Enjoy your flight."

All in all, if you disregard the ticket mess and the fact that we got lost trying to find our room, not to mention getting charged (wrongfully, I might add) $36 for a box of intimate pleasure items that were in a display case in our room, we had a great trip.

Olson: Water on earth is about 4.5 billion years old

Letter to the Editor:

Re: article in current Star Herald about Rock County Water System receiving a grant to determine nitrates and also the age of water in Rock County.

Ifyougoogle"Howoldisdrinking water," you find that all water on earth is about 4.5 billion years old. It was formed during the formation of the solar system and just cycles and changes form (as rain, snow, sleet, etc.) No new water has been added since that time.

Perhaps the grant is designed to determine how long nitrates have been in the county's water?

I like to tell people I only drink fresh water; it's 4 1/2 billion years old!

Hardwick buys land for growth and new firehall/from page 1A

The city of Hardwick agreed to purchase nine acres of land to the west and south of the current city limits from the Scott family. City council members plan to construct a new fire hall along with offering commercial and residential properties the city plans to offer for sale to finance the $88,000 sale price. Graphic shows the general area of the purchased property. owners interested in selling a portion of their land to Hardwick to expand the city limits. Community pride prompted the Scott family to consider selling a portion of the family's property. JR Scott and Brandee (Scott) Bullerman grew up on a farm just outside of Hardwick.

They represent the third generation of the Scott family to call Hardwick home.

Scott said for decades he or his family attended church, patronized local businesses, played fastpitch softball in the park, and/or gathered for the annual town celebrations.

Their grandfather, BJ Scott, farmed and served on the Hardwick volunteer fire department along with their dad, Randy Scott, who also served as the department's fire chief.

"It's just a pretty neat little town," Scott said. "I had a lot of fun growing up in that town."

Although Scott himself no longer lives in the area, he wants his nieces and nephews to have the experience of growing up in a small town.

"He told us he wants to make 56134 a great place to live again and hopefully we'll be able to attract new businesses to town," said Mayor Haas.

Currently city officials are working with engineers at DGR of Rock Rapids to finalize lot sizes and access points in and out of the new addition.

A direct connection to County Road 7 is preferred for emergency vehicle access.

Haas said the city intends to recoup costs through future ty from restauranteur Leroy Austin of Garretson.

Dikun owns The Flower Shop, LLC, a medical marijuana dispensary in Sioux Falls, and also Dent Force auto body repair in Dell Rapids, where he lives.

Vince Gacke opened Vinnie's in 2006 and in 2021 sold it to Austin who continued to run it as Vinnie's until last year. Now the wooden storage building will be demolished under new ownership.

According to EDA notes, it is deteriorating and the cost of repairs outweighs the value of the building.

Meanwhile, Dikun will prepare the location for his own business venture. The dilapidated building will be demolished this summer, and new construction may begin next spring. It's unclear if the former Vinnie's building will remain.

Dikun said he's aware of speculation that he'll open a Luverne location of the Flower Shop dispensary, but he said those plans aren't certain.

"I bought it as investment property. Maybe I'll find a tenant to lease it until plans fall into place in the next year and a half," he said Monday.

"It could be many things. It could be a dispensary. It could be a bar ... or maybe office space. Sometimes you shoot from the hip and in this case the price was right."

According to his website, The Flower Shop in Sioux Falls is a medical marijuana dispensary that offers five different strains of cannabis flower buds, a limited selection of edibles and some CBD products.

Whether the Luverne location is a dispensary or some other business, Dikun said he looks forward to being part of Luverne's growth.

"I'm excited about the buzz around this," he said. "And I'm super excited to part of the community."

Cannabis law

Gov. Tim Walz signed into law June 6 a bill that legalizes marijuana in Minnesota. It legalizes the possession and use of marijuana for Minnesotans 21 and older.

Many elements of the law, such as personal possession, use and home cultivation, go into effect July 1. However, legal retail sales might not begin until early 2025.

The law authorizes the production and retail sale of marijuana flower, concentrates, topicals and edible products, such as candy and beverages. It also permits the sale of immature cannabis plants and seeds, as well as hemp-derived THC products.

1943: Diamond Club member Anna Varah continues her life story

The following article is part of the Diamond Club Member group that began in the January 7, 1943, issue of the Rock County Star Herald. Members of this group consist of persons of age 75 and older.

The following appeared in The Rock County Herald on October 14, 1943. (Hardwick resident Mrs.

Anna Varah continues her story from last week.)

The Ostreich family lived in Clayton county nine years and from there moved to Delaware county, Iowa, where

BITS BY BETTY

By Betty Mann, Rock County Historian

they lived until 1885 when they came to Rock county, settling in Clinton township, just north of the Iowa line.

On September 28, 1887, she was married to James E. Varah, by a justice of the peace in Lyon county, Iowa. According to Mrs. Varah, Mr.

Varah at that time was not permitted to be married in Minnesota because an Iowa law at that time forbade its residents from marrying outside the state.

They lived in Lyon county the first winter, and there experienced the famous blizzard of 1888. They had plenty of snow, Mrs. Varah declared, and it was extremely cold.

The next spring, they moved to a farm east of Ashcreek, where they lived for five years. From there, they moved to Murray county where they farmed until 1898 when they moved to a farm in Battle Plain township, five miles east of Hardwick. While operating a corn picker one day in the fall of 1914, Mr. Varah lost his hand and the following spring they moved to Hardwick.

Hardwick. They had no children of their own, but they took Truby De Vinney as a boy, and reared him.

One remarkable fact about her family, Mrs. Varah stated, is that there are still nine children living out of a family of 12. Her brothers and sisters include Mrs. E. S. Barker, Willmar; Mrs. Charles Mc Gowan, Pipestone; Mrs. Martha Raymond, Delaware county, Ia.; Mrs. Howard Adams, Suffolk, Mont.; Herman Ostreich, Leboth, S.D.; Paul Ostreich, Cromwell, Minn., and Henry Ostreich, Pennock, Minn.

Mrs. Varah is still very active. She kept a big garden this summer, and did considerable canning. She also raises a few chickens. One of her favorite pastimes is crocheting dish towels for her friends, and she also pieces quilts for others. During the last war, she did considerable sewing and knitting for the Red Cross, but thus far, she has not done any of that type of work during this war, she stated.

REMEMBER WHEN

•Workers removed the 1970s-era paneling covering the Power Fitness and Print Express buildings on Luverne's Main Street Monday.

Luverne Economic Development Director Holly Sammons said part of establishing a historic district includes determining the historical status of various buildings.

Because these two buildings, along with the Creeger building, were covered up in the 1960s and 1970s it was impossible to determine their historical significance.

If the buildings are designed as historically significant, Sammons said improvements made to the facades by their owners will qualify for state and federal tax credits.

Until then, Sammons said the building owners are spending their own money for the visual improvement of Main Street.

By all estimates, students will be able to attend classes in their new classrooms this fall, but construction manager Ron Domino isn't making any promises. "We're still on track," is all he keeps saying.

At the Thursday, June 11, Luverne School Board meeting, Domino updated board members on construction progress. ...

The link between the elementary and high school is now underway, and crews have started roof work on the gym.

•Mrs. Art Boeve of Steen is the 1973 Rock County Rural Homemaker. She represented the annual Rural Homemaker Day in Sioux City, Iowa, June 5.

Selection of the Rural Homemaker is based on her activities within the home and community — and this is where Mrs. Boeve really excels, according to her Extension Club members.

The Boeves are the parents of two daughters and a son — Anita (Mrs. Gregg Bosch) of Little Rock, Iowa, and Glen and Michelle at home. They moved to a farm near Steen 12 years ago from Iowa.

Mrs. Boeve is the president of her local Extension group — the Opportunity Club. She has been president of the Women's Guild in the Reformed Church in Steen and has taught Sunday School and Daily Vacation Bible School.

•If all the people in the world were as honest as Mrs. Ella Hoffman, Luverne, there would be little need for police officers, said Officer Harry Schneekloth this week.

When Mrs. Hoffman was returning home from work at 6 a.m. Monday, she chanced to see a billfold lying in the street. She picked it up and carried it a few steps to where Officer Schneekloth happened to be standing, and handed it to him, telling him she'd just found it and didn't know what was in it.

Officer Schneekloth opened it, and his hunch was right. It belonged to Clarence Thode, of near Luverne, who had reported it lost about 1 a.m. It contained not only valuable papers but also $69 in cash. It had been pressed flat, the police officer said, because it had been run over so much with automobile tires while lying in the street.

Thode rewarded Mrs. Hoffman with a $10 bill for her honesty.

•A deal for the purchase of the Luverne hospital property, which has bee pending for some time, was consummated this week, when Mrs. Alma Spalding and the other beneficiaries of the Dr. A. E. Spalding estate, sold the property to Drs. C. L. Sherman and C. O. Wright, each one purchasing a half interest.

Since April, 1921, the hospital has been conducted under a joint lease held by Drs. Wright, Sherman and Thorson, and the sale of property will therefore not occasion any pronounced change in the policies of the institution.

The new owners, however, will make a number of substantial improvements, including the refinishing of the interior of the building, and the installation of new furnishings and equipment, that will add greatly to the appearance and conveniences of the hospital.

Dolly Talbert

Dolly A. (Oaks) Talbert, age 85, of Luverne, Minnesota, died Wednesday, June 7, 2023, at the Essentia Health Medical Center in Fargo, North Dakota, following complications from a stroke.

Visitation was Sunday, June 11, from 3-6 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church in Luverne. Funeral service was Monday, June 12, at 10:30 a.m. at Grace Lutheran Church. Burial followed at Maplewood Cemetery in Luverne. Arrangements were under the care of Hartquist Funeral Home. To view Dolly's LifeTribute video or sign an online registry, please visit www. hartquistfuneral.com.

Dolly A. (Oaks) Talbert was born on February 6. 1938, to Lewis Sr. and Alice (Menike) Oaks in Aitkin, Minnesota. She grew up on a farm in West Libby Township, north of Palisade, Minnesota, where she attended country school until attending and graduating from Aitkin High School. She was baptized and confirmed at Bethel Lutheran Church in Palisade.

She furthered her education at Bemidji State University in Bemidji, Minnesota, graduating with a degree in vocal and instrumental music. Her passion for music became a career with her first teaching position in Sauk Rapids, Minnesota. Later, she taught in Rush City, Pine City, and Belgrade, all in Minnesota prior to teaching her last 23 years in the Luverne Public Schools.

On September 4, 1970, Dollywas united in marriage to Donald Talbert in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, after an earlier divorce. Together they raised an amazing son, Stewart. The couple settled in Luverne where she taught and officially retired in 1993, though she never ceased her dedication to music and the education of

to forge new relationships with other musicians through various musical collaborations. Her husband, Don, passed away in August, 2008, and music became her "life", as she continued to reside in their home. Here, she privately gave piano lessons for many years.

She also maintained contact with students by serving as an accompanist for choirs and vocal and instrumental soloists at Luverne and Hills Beaver Creek public schools. Another joy for her was reading to classes in the elementary school in Luverne.

During her teaching career Dolly was a member of several professional organizations: LEA, MEA, NEA, MMEA, MENC, and ACDA. In 1989 Dolly received the "Teacher of the Year Award" from LEA; the "Minnesota Choral Director of the Year Award" from Minnesota Music Educators Association in 1992; "Friend of Education Award" from LEA in 2000; and most recently, in 2019, she was awarded the "ACE Award" from ACDA. She served as chairperson of the Music Department in Luverne for many years; served as section leader for the Minnesota All State Women's Choir for two years; and served as adjudicator for large-group and solo-ensemble contests throughout the state for a number of years.

Dolly rang in the Community Handbell Choir, under the direction of Sue Feltman; accompanied the Opland Singers in Pipestone, Minnesota, for several years; directed a Luverne Community Choir for a Christmas Cantata performance for two years; directed the choir for the Luverne All-School Reunion for two different years and the choir for the Luverne Ouasquicentennial Celebration. She also had fun directing and accompanying a group of male colleagues, "The Has Beens," for several years until her retirement.

Dolly was a member of the Pink Ladies and served on the Medical Home Patient Advisory Committee at Luverne Sanford Hospital.

She was an active member of Grace Lutheran Church in Luverne. There, she served as director of the Folk and Chancel Choirs, and two handbell choirs, Deacon, and on the Call Committee, member of the Music/Worship Committee, helped with planning of worship services and was Chairperson for Grace's Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration. She has served as pianist for Saturday evening worship services for many years, and has directed and accompanied the Exaltation Worship Team for a number of years. She has written several hymns, composing the music for lyrics written by Rev. Norman P. Olsen, Rev. Dell Sanderson, and Rev. Maurice Hagen.

Dolly and Don enjoyed traveling. So while they were teaching and Stewart was a youngster, they would hitch up their travel trailer and visit many places throughout the United States, each summer taking them to a different area of the country. In the fall of 1977 they purchased a lot on Lake Shetek and began the task of preparing the lot for a building. Together, with Don's expertise and good directions the three of them built a cabin, starting in the summer of 1978. Thus, summer travel ceased while they worked diligently on construction, outside and inside.

By 1984 the cabin was pretty much completed, just in time for them to host an exchange student from Switzerland during the 1983-84 school year.

After Dolly's retirement in 1993, the couple took many bus tours, always to places they hadn't been. This became a pleasure for them and Dolly continued to go on bus tours after Don's passing. She especially liked the "Mystery Tours", having no idea where she would be going and enjoying every part of the mystery!

Family was very important to Dolly and her grandchildren, Ariana and Hayden, were her pride and joy. She had lots of fun making up new games for them, reading to them, and taking them on treasure hunts as she watched them grow.

On Wednesday, June 7, 2023, Dolly passed away at Essentia Health in Fargo, North Dakota, at the age of 85 years, four months and one day.

Dolly will be lovingly remembered by her son, Stewart, and his wife, Jennifer, of Lake City, Minnesota; two grandchildren, Ariana and Hayden; a sister, Diane Lande of Wheaton, Minnesota; a brother, Robert Oaks of Palisade; many nieces, nephews, relatives, and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Donald Talbert; a sister, Norma Jean LeRoy; a brother, Lewis Oaks Jr.; and her parents, Lewis and Alice Oaks.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are preferred to Grace Lutheran Church or Sanford Luverne Hospice

LHS and H-BC bring home 2023 Minnesota State High School Track and Field Class A hardware

By Greg Hoogeveen

Luverne and Hills-Beaver Creek traveled to the 2023 Minnesota State High School Track & Field Class A Championships in Albertville Thursday, June 8, and Friday, June 9.

Twenty-one Cardinals qualified for state competition, and H-BC eighthgrader Brynn Bakken represented the Patriots at the state meet.

Bakken qualified in three events and took home three medals at the end of competition.

She took third place in the 100-meter dash with a time of 12.52 seconds, and she achieved a personal record time in the prelims at 12.44.

In the 200-meter dash Bakken placed sixth with a time of 25.88 and registered personal best time in the prelims of 25.72.

In her third event, the triple jump, Bakken placed ninth with a jump of 34-10 1/4.

"It was great to see Brynn come away with three medals at the state meet," H-BC head coach Rex Metzger said. "She had two PRs, and to get under 26 seconds in the 200, she was pretty excited."

The Luverne Cardinals walked away with 13 Top 12 finishes at the state track and field competition.

"I thought we had an outstanding meet as a whole," LHS head coach Pete Janiszeski said.

"We had several seasonbest and personal-record performances, including the boys' 4-by-800 who smashed their school record by 12.83 seconds, and the girls' 4-by-800 medaled for the seventh straight year," Janiszeski said.

Senior DJ Rock took first place in the pole vault with a winning height of 14 feet

Senior Jadyn Hart placed first in the discus throw with a toss of 131 feet even, and she placed fourth in the shot put with a throw of 39-7 1/4.

Dip your toes in recreational shooting

By Scott Rall

Some people just love to shoot at cans with a .22 rifle. It has been a recreational pastime for generations.

When I was very young, I lived in Redfield, South Dakota. I was probably about 6 years old at the time. The .22 rounds were less than 99 cents for a box of 100 back then.

My dad would take me out in the countryside, and we would sit in the truck and do our best to shoot the blooms off of thistle plants. Needless to say, we were not very good and very few blossoms actually hit the ground. But when they did, was I one proud 6-year-old!

Fast-forward to 62 years old and I still like shooting inanimate objects. Today they consist of clay pigeons or a hardened steel plate. I am far better with a shotgun than a bigger caliber rifle, but shooting is shooting

My wildlife property is an east-west 80-acre parcel, and if you have the right topography, you can shoot corner to corner and reach out to about 1,000 yards.

Hunters of big game have never really attempted shoots out past 200 yards, and this is a good thing. The hunter's first and foremost obligation is to make a clean kill shot, but without the right equipment and enough practice shooting an animal past those distances, it's out of reach for the average deer hunter.

Many people think you need some really fancy guns to shoot at a longrange target. This is just not true. Almost any gun in the cabinet can make a long shot with the right information and an average shooter.

I own a .270, 308, 204, .17, and several 6.5 Creedmoor rifles. I have seen novice shooters with a $350 gun/scope combo and some instruction shoot a target at 800 yards.

What it takes is a little patience and the right data. There is a phone app called strelokpro. It costs about $12 and there are no renewal fees. This program allows you to enter all of the relevant data about the gun you are using and the cartridge specifications, things like the weight and velocity of the bullet. Gun specs are entered along with some scope data as well. All of this information is available on the gun and scope company's website and is not hard to

Don't run on 'E'

Who remembers the days, maybe back in high school, when we would all chip in money for gas? Man, it seemed like $5 would get you around all weekend. Not so much anymore.

This one time a group of us were on our way to the gas station for a weekend excursion. I don't remember what we had planned, but I'm certain it wasn't good. Anyway, the station was in our sights, the car chugged, and we ran out of gas. My buddy put it in neutral and started coasting. I remember thinking, if only this were the "Flintstones" we could drop our feet thru the floor and run like crazy! But, no ... we stopped, got out and pushed the car the rest of the way. We learned a lesson to keep the tank full or at least keep the needle from bouncing on "E."

I think the same thing happens to us spiritually. We need to be aware of the level of our spiritual tank. We want to avoid running low causing unnecessary wear and tear on our hearts and souls. Think about it. Our cars need fuel to keep running as do our spirits. It's very important not to let your spiritual tank bounce on "E." When we get down to mere vapors in our tank, we get tired and in our exhaustion is when the enemy attacks. He is waiting there, doing everything he can do just to keep us from filling up. Be vigilant to keep your spirit full, because we can't step thru the floor like Fred and Barney to keep going.

Spend time with God through prayer, reading his word, and worship. Get out of the house and go to church, in your car ... full of gas! Hang out with other believers. Do what you can to stay full. Pay attention to your personal spiritual gauge; don't be comfortable with just glancing at it occasionally, assuming it has enough to get you through.

I had a truck with a broken gas gauge. I relied on how many miles I could go between fill-ups. Of course, I miscalculated one time and ran out of gas. Maybe this is how you have been spiritually; you've miscalculated how much is left in your spiritual tank and you're not totally ready when the enemy attacks.

Built on A ROCK

By Pastor Bob Junak Rock River Community Church, Luverne

Isn't this like the story of the ten virgins? Five virgins brought extra oil for their lamps and five did not. It would appear the five that didn't have enough oil seemed to have it together spiritually. Their lamps were burning. But they didn't burn long.

"The foolish ones took their lamps but did not take any oil with them." (Matthew 25:3)

They kept only enough oil to keep their lamps burning for a little while. But the wise girls were ready.

"The wise, however, took oil in jars along with their lamps." (Matthew 25:4)

They brought extra oil along so when their tank ran low, they filled it back up again. Which is why we need to be filled spiritually so we are ready, no matter what happens.

In Jesus' parable, the bridegroom didn't come right away as was expected. The five who were unprepared ran out of oil and had to go out to buy some more. While they were gone, the bridegroom arrived. When the five girls got back, the door was closed, and they couldn't participate in the celebration.

God doesn't always arrive when we expect him to either. Like the five wise virgins, we need to have enough fuel for today and for tomorrow and the day after that.

You zero the scope and gun at a distance of 100 yards. Once this is complete, all you do is make adjustments for longer ranges as indicated in the app. It might say at 300 yards you need to move the scope up two inches to compensate for the bullet drop out to that range. There are some spots on the app to enter wind speed and direction and this you can use a wind meter for or just estimate.

I had a friend who had never shot at targets beyond 250 yards. He zeroed his gun at 100 yards. He

He took his gun and

In another instance, my son fine-tuned his Bergara rifle into the 808-yard target and then had one of my friends shoot his gun. He hit the same long distance target three times in a row. My turn was next and I was certain that I would break this success string.

With a gun I had never shot before, I hit the 808yard target three times in a row before I missed. Long range shooting success is getting the gun tuned in for the distance and then just making a reasonably good Long-range shooting is really like a math computation. Figure out the variables and everyone can make an 808-yard shot. Many good shooters can shoot at much longer ranges, but my property is limited to an 808-yard maximum.

One of the coolest parts of long-range shooting is the chime you hear when a bullet hits steel. When I am watching other shooters, I can see the steel plate move upon bullet impact and call "impact" long before the sound of that impact is heard by the person who pulled the trigger.

It is different from watching a thistle bloom fall to the ground, and 6.5 Creedmoor rounds cost far more than a penny each. But the satisfaction is just as if I was 6 years old again.

Next week I will share with you a way for you to dip your toe into the world of long-range shooting and do so in a manner with a much shorter learning curve. Stay tuned.
